Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136 (a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 51-79 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shavit et al. (US 5,727,164, hereinafter "Shavit") in view of Kaye et al. (US 5,727,164, hereinafter "Kaye"), and further in view of Foster et al. (US 4,897,867, hereinafter "Foster").

Shavit discloses a method of telephonically using a traffic control system (interactive market management system) for communication involving a buyer terminal (buyer 62) and at least one vendor terminal (distributors 83 or suppliers 84) for consummating sales transactions (processing business transactions; Abstract), the method including the steps of:

establishing telephonic communication from a buyer terminal to receive a buyer request (a buyer can submit a request for quotation (RFQ) over the public telephone system; col. 11, lines 39-51; col. 12, line 54 - col. 13, line 10);

indicating a transaction (the RFQ includes the goods or services desired by the buyer; col. 12, line 63 - col. 13, line 9);

Art Unit: 2643

establishing telephonic communication with at least one vendor terminal to transmit the buyer request (the RFQ data is transmitted to a distributor for authorization, resulting in a bid released to the buyer for conversion to a purchase order (col. 13, lines 29-34; col. 13, line 54 - col. 14, line 9); and making a record regarding transactions for billing purposes (orders are recorded for payment processing; col. 8, line 55 - col. 9, line 42; col. 14, lines 33-62).

Shavit differs from the claims in that it does not specify the buyer request as including a specified purchase price. However, Kaye teaches the desirability of allowing a buyer to specify a maximum purchase price as part of the desired product information (col. 4, lines 11-20; col. 5, line 53 - col. 6, line 2) in order to locate a vendor willing to sell the desired product at a minimum cost. Since Shavit is similarly directed to providing buyers with access to multiple vendors, it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to allow a buyer to include a desired purchase price as part of the buyer request, as taught by Kaye, within the request for quotation of Shavit in order to locate a vendor willing to sell the desired product at minium cost.

The combination of Shavit and Kaye differs from claims 51-79 in that it does not specify utilizing data which includes a check digit and qualifying the buyer at least in part based on the check digit. However, the Shavit system does require a buyer to enter an authorized user ID and password prior to receiving access to the system (col. 11, lines 39-47), and Foster teaches the well known use of a check digit for verifying an entered PIN number (col. 7, lines 47-51) such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to use a check digit, as taught by

Art Unit: 2643

Foster, within the combination of Shavit and Kaye in order to verify the number of digits entered by the user as being the expected number of PIN digits.

3. Claims 80-106 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Shavit and Kaye, and further in view of Smith (US 5,450,123).

Shavit discloses a method of telephonically using a traffic control system (interactive market management system) for communication involving a buyer terminal (buyer 62) and at least one vendor terminal (distributors 83 or suppliers 84) for consummating sales transactions (processing business transactions; Abstract), the method including the steps of:

establishing telephonic communication from a buyer terminal to receive a buyer request (a buyer can submit a request for quotation (RFQ) over the public telephone system; col. 11, lines 39-51; col. 12, line 54 - col. 13, line 10);

indicating a transaction (the RFQ includes the goods or services desired by the buyer; col. 12, line 63 - col. 13, line 9);

establishing telephonic communication with at least one vendor terminal to transmit the buyer request (the RFQ data is transmitted to a distributor for authorization, resulting in a bid released to the buyer for conversion to a purchase order (col. 13, lines 29-34; col. 13, line 54 - col. 14, line 9); and making a record regarding transactions for billing purposes (orders are recorded for payment processing; col. 8, line 55 - col. 9, line 42; col. 14, lines 33-62).

Art Unit: 2643

Shavit differs from the claims in that it does not specify the buyer request as including a specified purchase price. However, Kaye teaches the desirability of allowing a buyer to specify a maximum purchase price as part of the desired product information (col. 4, lines 11-20; col. 5, line 53 - col. 6, line 2) in order to locate a vendor willing to sell the desired product at a minimum cost. Since Shavit is similarly directed to providing buyers with access to multiple vendors, it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to allow a buyer to include a desired purchase price as part of the buyer request, as taught by Kaye, within the request for quotation of Shavit in order to locate a vendor willing to sell the desired product at minimum cost.

The combination of Shavit and Kaye differs from claims 80-106 in that although it provides for allowing subscriber access to a variety of data base services (col. 5, lines 58-65; col. 7, lines 6-46), it does not specify communication video. However, Smith teaches the desirability of allowing buyer access to a vendor supplied video image stored in a video file server (video source and database 6) for enhancing sales communication with the use of video (col. 1, line 51 - col. 3, line 27) as well as including a camera at the agent's terminal so that direct, real-time, point-to-point video communication can take place between a customer and the representative (col. 3, lines 26-27; col. 4, lines 25-28; moving pictures are communicated via AT&T 2500 video telephone sets, col. 1, lines 27-28) such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to incorporate such use of dynamic, full-motion video, as taught by Smith, within the method of Shavit in order to allow a buyer to view the desired goods or services as well as real-time video communication between the customer and representative. Smith provides for prompts to view an available video (col. 2, lines 53-56; col. 4, lines 45-50) and providing client specific video (col. 5, lines 48+).

The examiner further takes Official Notice that it is old and well known in the art at the time of invention to provide for freeze-frame and high resolution video capability in a video communication system such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to incorporate such well known video features within the combination of Shavit, Kaye, and Smith in order to allow for a higher quality video reception.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 51-106 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
